

Simpson, Timothy A. , University of Macau, Macau

Macau: Cafés, Noir, and the Capital of the 21st Century

In this paper, I will extend research that I have been doing for a book on Macau, Dubai, and Las Vegas as cultural indices of the present moment of globalization and capital intensity, especially in the domain of architecture and the habits of everyday life. Although I will focus the presentation on Macau, it will set up resonances with other sites.