

Jung, Sun, Victoria University, Australia; Yue, Audrey, University of Melbourne, Australia

Urban Screens and Transcultural Consumption between South Korea and Australia

This paper will examine how large urban screens are new media technologies that function as new social sites of transcultural consumption. Using the event in the panel abstract as a case study, it will consider how digital art and public SMS texting between the two countries are mobilized by the respective Korean and Australian audiences to create a transnational public sphere and engender local cultural citizenship.